Illinois International Port Authority
REQUEST FOR INFORMATION (RFP) -
For Adaptive Reuse and/or Repurposing of the North Grain Elevator

I. Background on the IIPD

The Illinois International Port District (IIPD) is an Illinois municipal corporation created to promote the shipment of cargoes and commerce through its facilities. IIPD is the owner and master landlord controlling two land areas in South Chicago: Iroquois Landing, an open paved terminal with 3,000 linear feet of ship and barge berthing space located at the mouth of the Calumet River in the southwest corner of Lake Michigan; and Senator Dan Dougherty Harbor (Lake Calumet) which currently is home to various harbor operations and terminals located at the junction of the Grand Calumet and Little Calumet Rivers, situated six miles inland from Lake Michigan. IIPD's harbor facilities are served by rail facilities and are adjacent to three interstate highways and feature an abundance of warehouse facilities. IIPD currently leases facilities within its harbor areas to freight forwarders, export packaging, customs brokers, consolidators, shippers' associations, forwarders and expeditors, specialists in fragile and perishable cargoes, and many other users.

II. The Site and Existing Facilities.

The grain elevator facility is situated on a 7.6 acre site which is ideally located at Lake Calumet Harbor on Chicago's far south side with unparalleled access to all forms of land and water transportation. The site currently houses a grain elevator with capacity of holding up to 7.5 million bushels. The existing elevator facility is 941.64 feet long by 100.00 feet wide. The height of the structure is 120 feet to top of grain elevator (210 feet to top of building).

The gain elevator facility site is highly accessible with a highway location immediately proximate to Interstate I-90/94 with nearby connection to I-80, I-57, I-55 and I-65. The site features intermodal capabilities including rail connection to all major truck carriers and has capacity for a marshalling yard for train makeup and car storage with choice of switching lines. The site also includes a 1,000 foot, steel-faced dock with 27 foot draft for lake and ocean-going vessels through the St. Lawrence Seaway. The location at the Calumet River also allows for year-round barge service to New Orleans and river ports via the Illinois and Mississippi waterways.

The Authority has not conducted any environmental assessment, structural assessment or other building survey related to any adaptive reuse and/or repurposing of the site.

The Authority will make reasonable accommodations for potential respondents interested in touring the exterior of the site, which can be arranged by appointment for those interested in responding to this RFI. See Attachment A for photographs of exteriors and interiors of the site and existing facilities.

III. Objectives and Information

- A. Overview of request and requirements: The Illinois International Port Authority (“IIPD” or “Authority”) is hereby issuing this RFI as part of its continued efforts to maximize use and development of the IIPD’s property within the Port of Chicago in furtherance of the Authority’s statutory charter. The Authority’s primary intent with this RFI is to solicit and gather information from potential tenants, contract partners or interested citizens or organizations about possible adaptive reuses and/or appropriate and feasible repurposing of the North Grain Elevator facilities.

The Authority is open to all creative concepts and proposals for the adaptive reuse or repurposing of the existing grain elevator facilities and encourages respondents to employ creativity in responding on any variation of adaptive reuse or repurposing concepts for the existing grain elevator facilities. By way of example, concepts could incorporate rehabilitation or retrofit of the existing elevator facility for a storage-related use or modification of the facilities to accommodate a new use other than aggregate storage. Ideas for modification of the existing facilities to accommodate an adaptive reuse of the building could include one or more of the following uses:

1. Hydroponic agriculture, farming or gardening;
2. Organic material composting;
3. Non-combustible material storage;
4. Light industrial uses or other production uses; or
5. Research and development, technology and other commercial uses.

This list is not intended to be exhaustive and the IIPD is open to new ideas and creative uses compatible with the IIPD’s charter.

In making this solicitation the IIPD efforts to contribute to the economic development in and around the Port of Chicago and provide other social and environmental benefits to Cook County. Currently, it is not the intention of IIPD to operate the renovated or adapted facility, nor provide funds or staff for operation, maintenance or renovation of the facility. Respondents should anticipate that any future use of the renovated and/or adapted facility will be undertaken pursuant to a lease or other contractual agreement that must be executed in a manner consistent with IIPD’s statutory charter, as well as all applicable local, state and federal laws.

- B. Proprietary Information. Respondent(s) are hereby advised that the Authority is subject to the Illinois State Freedom of Information Law (“FOIL”). Confidential information will be treated as such to the extent consistent with the Authority’s legal obligations under the FOIL and other applicable laws, regulation or legal process and the provisions of any Confidentiality Agreement between the Authority and Respondent(s). Respondents are advised that all materials provided will be reviewed jointly by IIPD and the Port Authority.

Upon the request of a Respondent(s), IIPD and the Port Authority will enter into Confidentiality Agreement with the Respondent(s) concerning information the Respondent(s) wishes to protect from public disclosure. This agreement shall be subject to FOIL and other applicable legal requirements as set forth above.

- C. Deadline for Response. Responses are due by 4:00pm Central time on April 10, 2017 and are to be submitted in sealed envelope(s) or package(s). The outside of the package or envelope must clearly indicate the name of the project, Request for Information “RFI” for the Repurposing of the North Grain Elevator. The name and address of the Respondent must also be clearly printed on the outside of the envelope(s) or package(s).

IV. Response Requirements and Recommended Components

Minimum Respondent(s) Requirements: In order to be considered, all Respondent(s) proposals must meet the following Minimum Requirements:
